

God provided quail up to three feet deep.
God's anger burned against the people
And they were overcome with a plague.
There they buried the people who had
Craved other foods.
The grumbling now turns personal as
Moses brother and sister begin to turn
On him

Aaron and Miriam were upset with Moses because he had married a Cushite wife.
They wanted to see themselves on the same level of Moses.
Moses humility is identified in this exchange.
"Now Moses was a very humble man, more humble than anyone else on the face of the earth."

A golden crown with a spiked shadow. The crown is positioned on the left side of the slide, casting a shadow that resembles a crown of thorns to its right. The crown has a scalloped edge and a smooth interior.

God provides a sign to the people as Miriam and Aaron are called before God. Miriam is given leprosy, which would last for seven days.

In the opening pages of the chapter, God at times deals harshly with the people for their grumbling and complaining.

Pages 74-78 recounts the sending of the spies. Spies from each of the twelve tribes.

Spies enter the promised land for forty days.

The promised land is everything God said it would be, a land flowing with milk and honey. A land of abundance!

The report of the spies raise concerns about their ability to enter the land, there is fear.

Caleb and Joshua file a minority report, believing that they should enter, because God is on our side.

The entire assembly turn on Caleb and Joshua, causing God's anger to burn against the people again.

Moses pleads again for the people and God relents to some extent.

God will cause them to wander for forty years.

When they are ready to enter the promised land everyone over the age of 20 will have perished.

The forty years are because the spies had explored the promised land for forty days. Now they will wander one year for each day.

Moses and Aaron disobey God (Pages 78-79)

God now judges both Moses and Aaron for their lack of trust by informing them that they will not enter the promised land.

The pattern of grumbling, complaining continue. God now sends venomous snakes. Yet, Moses is given a cure by making a snake and placing it on a pole, so that when someone is bitten, and looks to the snake on the pole, they will be healed.
